One lonesome tally was all the Indianapolis team could score in the game with Minneapolis yesterday afternoon, while the visitors piled up five. When the Millers sent three men around the circuit in the eighth a crowd of rooters in the grandstand from Minneapolis and Lebanon, the home of McIntyre, called off the total score so that every person in the park could hear it. The Indianapolis spectators failed to see the humor, as Indianapolis was too far in the rear to stand a chance of winning out in the ninth.

After Minneapolis scored two in the fourth inning there was a chance to tie the score in the sixth, but McCreey got under O'Brien's long fly and retired the side. The crowd still had hopes that Indianapolis would score enough tallies to win in the last three innings, but the mess of misplays and hits in the eighth gave Minneapolis a lead that riveted the victory.

With the exception of the eighth inning, when Indianapolis piled up their only three errors, the contest was one of the most sensational ever witnessed here. A brilliant play made every inning interesting and exciting, and both teams fought hard for a victory. In the first inning Tammsett made a wonderful one-hand catch of Spooner's line drive and doubled McCreey at first. Again, in the second, Tammsett made a beautiful catch of Yeager's foul. Tammsett ran into the fence in front of the left bleachers and fell over it, but he held the ball. The Indianapolis third baseman was the star of the game, but O'Brien and Fox did good work in the infield.

KATOLLI RETIRES.
Katoli was sent to the slab against Indianapolis, but he lasted only two innings, as the Hoosiers found him for three singles in the second, but one of them, Thomas, was then called upon to pitch, and the Hoosiers had much difficulty in solving his delivery. In the sixth inning a triple followed a single, but after that he allowed only two hits. His support was fast and perfect.

Ford pitched for Indianapolis and in the fourth and eighth innings the visitors finished his career with a hit and a run. The game was sensational during the first seven innings. McCreey started the contest with a single to left and a moment later Tammsett caught Spooner's line drive with his right hand. McCreey caught at first, Lally flew to Jones. McGreey opened the Indianapolis hole by flying out to McCreey. Fox batted second, but Jones and Kihm were easily retired.

Tammsett's work at third yesterday was the most sensational ever performed by a player in one game. In three innings he made brilliant catches.

Jimmie Cook, for four years the star center fielder for the University of Illinois baseball team, was called up to the Chicago club of the National League.

The four games scheduled for Terre Haute at Wheeling, beginning to-day, have been transferred to Terre Haute to avoid $25 extra traveling expenses for the four games.

Manager Yeager displayed wise judgment in taking Katoli out of the box, for the champions were finding his curves and another inning might have witnessed considerable damage.

Thomas Donohue, a native of Harrison, N. J., has become insane through excitement over a baseball game. Donohue was with his right hand on the fence and witnessed a game between the Newark and Buffalo teams, which resulted in a score of 10 to 0. He has been acting strangely ever since, finally had him taken into custody by the authorities.
